How can the European Climate Initiative (EUKI) advance climate action and support implementing organisations in Czechia to contribute effectively to the EU's Green Deal? These and more questions will be guiding through the Czech EUKI Community Conference.

German and Czech state and civil society representatives will discuss "New Challenges in the Implementation of the EU Climate Goals". The exchange will shed light on progress that have been achieved under the Czech Presidency and pressing issues Czechia is dealing with regard to the 'Fit for 55' package.

This event is part of the Czech EUKI Community Conference 2022, organized by EUROPEUM Institute for European Policy in cooperation with the European Climate Initiative (EUKI).

The panel discussion will be held in English and streamed for online viewers.

The Prague European Summit will take place in the following days (November 11 and 12). We would be also glad if you considered attending that event and happy to provide registration details.
